With a passing rate of 46.15%, TSU College of Law celebrated as six (6) of its graduates passed the November 2016 Bar Examinations. The results of the examination were released on May 3, 2017.

The new lawyers from TSU are: Atty. Einstein D. Eugenio, Atty. Jeny Anne D. Madamba, Atty. Anabelle Laguisma-Roque, Atty. I.P Lynn C. Bicos, Atty. Myr-Ann L. Olegario and Atty. Jocelyn Z. Martinez – Clemente.

A thanksgiving mass and testimonial dinner for the new lawyers was held last May 13, Saturday, at the TSU Main AVR. Each shared their experience throughout their journey of becoming lawyers.

5 out of 6 of them underwent the in-house review provided by the TSU College of Law Bar Operations.

This was the fourth batch of barristers of the College since 2012 and the biggest number of passers in a year.

With a theme "Break the Stigma", the Coesse – TSU Psychological Society held a Mental Health Awareness Advocacy program through a series of activities from May 10 to 12.

On its first day, the Coesse launched its 3-day activity in front of the Administration Building. Dr. Armee N. Rosel, Vice President for Academic Affairs, and Dr. Agnes M. Macaraeg, Dean of the College of Arts and Social Sciences, took part in the event.

Ms. Valene Anne G. Lagunzad of the Buhay Movement and Ms. Rowella L. Yuson of the Youth for Mental Health Coalition were present as they shared their advocacy on mental health awareness and suicide prevention.

An exhibit of photos was presented at the first floor of the Administration Building, while a photo booth was assembled outside.

The Day 2 of the program was completed by the conduct of Poster-Making competition, followed by a Spoken Poetry competition.

On the last day of the event, a forum for students, focusing on the Filipino Consciousness on Mental Health and the Youth's Mental Health, was conducted at the TSU Gymnasium.

Dr. Gia B. Sison of the Youth for Mental Health Coalition gave information on how to break the stigma on mental health.
